THE WHITE HOUSE

My fellow citizens: I want to take this opportunity to report on the conclusions which this Government has reached on the basis of yesterday's aerial photographs which will be made available tomorrow, as well as other indications, namely, that the Soviet missile bases in Cuba are being dismantled, their missiles and related equipment are being crated, and the fixed installations at these sites are being destroyed:.....

The United States intends to follow closely:..... the completion of this work through a variety of means, including aerial surveillance, until such time as an equally satisfactory international means of verification is effected. ....

While the quarantine remains in effect, we are hopeful that adequate procedures can be developed for international inspection of Cuba-bound cargoes. The International Committee of the Red Cross, in our view, would be an appropriate agent in this matter. ....

The continuation of these measures in air and sea, until the threat to peace posed by these offensive weapons is gone, is in keeping with our pledge to secure their withdrawal or elimination from this Hemisphere. It is in keeping with the resolution of the OAS, and it is in keeping with the exchange of letters with Chairman Khrushchev of October 27th and 28th. ....

Progress is now being made towards the restoration of peace in the Caribbean, and it is our firm hope and purpose that this progress shall go forward. We will continue to keep the American people informed on this vital matter.

Thank you.

Since last Sunday afternoon, Soviet personnel have been dismantling the missiles and equipment at the MREB and IREB bases in Cuba and destroying the fixed installations. This is being done in pursuance of undertakings given by Chairman Khrushchev. We are informed by the representatives of the Soviet Government that the missiles and equipment have either been, or <sup>a</sup> are being, moved to seaports and that they will be returned to the Soviet Union as soon as shipping is available.

We are closely following and confirming the progress of this work through <sup>a variety of means, including</sup> systematic air surveillance, and we shall continue to conduct <sup>such</sup> ~~the same~~ surveillance until satisfactory international arrangements to verify the removal of these offensive weapons have become fully effective. This ~~is necessary to assure that this threat~~ ~~to the security of the Western Hemisphere is promptly~~ ~~eliminated~~ in keeping with the resolution of the Organization of American States demanding the "immediate dismantling and withdrawal from Cuba of all missiles and other weapons with offensive capability."

Meanwhile, the quarantine now in force will be continued in order to prevent the introduction of new offensive weapons. However, Ambassador Stevenson and Mr. McCloy have made it clear to representatives of the ~~Soviet~~

Soviet Union that the quarantine will be ~~imposed~~<sup>suggested</sup> as soon

~~as a satisfactory substitute procedure for inspecting~~
as a satisfactory substitute procedure for inspecting cargoes bound for Cuba has become fully operational. The United States has agreed to a Soviet suggestion that inspection of such cargoes might be carried out on behalf of the United Nations by the International Committee of the Red Cross. Arrangements to this end are now being examined and we hope that they can be put into effect promptly.

These measures are necessary steps in the fulfillment of the undertakings between President Kennedy and Chairman Khrushchev embodied in their exchange of letters of October 27 and 28. The United States is not prepared to have extraneous issues, such as United States treaty rights with respect to Guantanamo, injected into the discussions related to the carrying out of these undertakings.
